Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-4 and 16-23 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The present invention generally discloses a proxy agent for an online or automated auction or offering system which allows automatic proxy bidding within user-specified limits and conditions. However, the prior arts of record fail to teach, singly or in combination, automatically checking by an application server computer at least one current bid level in a bid data store in computer readable memory of an online offering or online auction system, said data store having a plurality of electronic bids from online auction participants, said electronic bids being separated in time to form a pace of bidding; determining by an application server computer that any of said proxy conditions have been met including that said current bid level reflects a current bid placed by an online auction participant other than the bidder for which automated online proxy bidding is being performed; and placing by an application server computer an electronic counter bid into at least one online auction responsive to said proxy conditions being met and a time following or upon the elapse of said counter bid delay from a time of placement of said current bid; wherein said automatic checking, determining and placing electronic counter bid produce delay paced online proxy bidding [[by]] according to said counter bid delay value, wherein escalation of said pace of bidding within said auction system is avoided..

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
